

onemedplace

OneMedPlace was created to maximize the potential of emerging life science companies through exposure to investors, partners, customers and resources. For the first time, the latest innovations in health and medicine are all in one place. Featuring:

- /// One of the largest online directories of emerging life science companies.
- /// Internet television network devoted to the latest innovations in health and medicine.
- /// Quarterly research on promising lesser known med-tech and life science companies.
- /// Weekly newsletter on developments at emerging medtech and life science companies.
- /// Annual finance conference.

OneMedPlace offers a powerful set of communication vehicles for innovative life science companies looking to increase their visibility and maximize their potential.

ONEMEDTV

OneMed TV is a library of video interviews with executives, investors, entrepreneurs and thought leaders from across the medical world. Through web video, OMP member companies can gain exposure never before possible to investors, physicians and strategic partners that are looking to quickly learn about a company, its technology, its management team, and the market conditions for their products.

ONEMEDDATABASE

The OneMedPlace database contains profiles for over 8000 life science companies, business incubators, and resources. Our member companies have an enhanced, user-managed profile page in our database that displays the company video, press releases, contact information, links to the company web site, and management info. Profile pages are keyword optimized to achieve maximum exposure in all major internet search engines.

ONEMEDDIGEST

The Investment Digest delivers "speed to knowledge" and insight on the latest innovations in health and medicine. It is designed for the time-pressed individual who needs to stay abreast of the vast range of emerging companies and technologies in the dynamic field of healthcare and life sciences. In just a few minutes, a reader can acquire valuable information on hundreds of companies.

ONEMEDFORUM

The OneMedPlace Finance Forum, held the 2nd week of January in San Francisco, was created to provide a platform for early stage venture backed companies and micro cap public companies to showcase promising health and medical technologies.

ONEMEDSENTINEL - E-NEWSLETTER

The Med-Tech Sentinel is emailed to over 8,000 decision-making executives on a weekly basis. Distribution includes individual investors, investment firms specializing in medical technology, executives at small and large device companies, physicians and clinical executives.

INTELLIGENCE SERVICES

OneMedPlace provides intelligence services to investors and business development executives seeking to invest in or form strategic partnerships with emerging life science companies. Our research team reports on over 50 private companies per month, the majority of which are little known and often discovered through our network of universities, incubators and international sources.